

CONTENTS

Editorial		p.2
Immersive PME: Building Habits of Mind Beyond the Classroom	Donald Thieme	p.7
Using Low Tech Simulations to Enhance Defence Logistician Learning	Patrick Finnegan, Tony Clark, and Amy Mumby.	p.15
Navigating Professional Commitments and Postgraduate Study: Supporting Military Students in an Online Flipped Learning Course	Maria E. Burczynska	p.30
Teaching Regional Studies with Case Studies in Asynchronous Online Officer PME: The Benefits and Challenges	Augustine Meaher	p.40
“I liked your paper because your research failed”: Autoethnographic Reflections on Researching Critical Thinking in PME	An Jacobs	p.47
A Review of Danish Literature on Women in PME and Auto-Ethnographic Reflections on Dynamics Influencing Research Output in the Field	Anna Sofie Schøning	p.57
PME in the Irish context: reflecting on the partnership between Maynooth University and the Irish Defence Forces	Ian Speller	p.67
Military Decision-Making in an Age of Algorithmic Warfare: Implications for Irish PME	Simon Keenan	p.80
The Irish Defence Forces Joint Professional Military Education Strategy 2025-2028	Colin Lawlor	p.92
Notes on Contributors		p.106